Foreword

WHEN in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for us to edit SIDNEY-HI, we set ourselves to the task with unflagging zeal. In our own weak way we have tried to record those events which are the most attractive and have inspired us through the years at Mt. Sidney High School long to be remembered. Where we have succeeded, we covet your praise, because therein lies our success; where we have failed, we crave your pardon and hope that those succeeding us may profit by our mistakes. Attribute any apparent faults to human deficiencies, not to insincere motives. We hope you will enjoy this record very much.

Dedication

To
our parents who have helped us, sacrificed for us,
cherished and loved us,
we dedicate this first volume of
SIDNEY-HI
May they feel and know that each good act and deed we do is a reflection
what they have taught us and instilled in our hearts and minds. May we make their efforts and confidence not seem in vain

Senior Poem

There are Seniors, large and small ; Seniors, short and tall ;
Seniors, far and near ; Seniors, very queer ;
Seniors, smart and bright ; Seniors out late at night ;
Seniors whom we appreciate ; Seniors whom we sometimes hate ;
But the Seniors from whom we'll part with a sigh
Are the Seniors of dear old Mt. Sidney High.

Largest, oldest, most dependable, and strong
Is our Senior, Paul, who's been a help all along.
McAllister, the willing, the annual did edit,
And if a success, to him goes the credit.
And then comes Wilberger who's always the sheik,
And Sutton, who's never here five days a week.

Tracy we know as the Senior who's witty,
And Kenneth's most handsome, more's the pity ;
Virginia comes next, who is quiet and tall,
And who's faithfully helped and cheered us all.
Then Janet, or "Lefty," who's full of pep ;
In all kinds of athletics she's set up her rep.

Mary is jolly and our friend in need,
Good in her class, thought, word, and deed.
Avis was voted our best all-round athlete ;
In track and baseball she's hard to beat.
And at the last comes the small Senior of Sidney-Hi.
To all of you I'll now say "Good-bye."

—KATHRYN WEAVER.

Class History

NE beautiful fall morning in the year nineteen hundred twenty-six, a small band of workers assembled at Mt. Sidney High School to begin the tasks of high school life. From the first we began working together and continued this through weary and discouraging days, as well as through days of happiness and peace.

Well, we, as a band of hunters, were hunting for experience in the field called education. We decided that every organization must have a leader, so we elected Kathryn Weaver as our Captain. The first game we came across were wild and vicious looking animals found in Algebra. All of us took a shot at them but they, in turn, charged us and, unfortunately, several got in their way and had to retire from the chase, some withdrew, to wait until the next year, and some left never to return. However, under our Captain's leadership, we conquered out part of the field.

As it is against the law to hunt during the summer months, we decided to take a little vacation. Many, however, became engaged in other lines of sport and left our party. We sadly missed our crackshot, Violet Diehl, whose service was needed elsewhere. "What one loses the other gains," was the way we felt about it. We lost several of our best sportsmen, but Virginia Bailey came to help us to down several more dangerous looking victims, which caused a stampede within our ranks—namely: Geometry, Ancient History, and English. These various beasts had new leaders—namely: Mr. E. E. Cox, Miss Marie Cox, and Miss Nettie Junkin, whom we had to conquer. Fortunately, no serious sickness befell our class. Only two diseases put in their appearance—baseball fever, and the more common ailment, dislike for studying, and, with no more misfortunes, we accomplished all we set out to do.

Nineteen hundred twenty-nine found us back on our old and happy hunting grounds, in search of other animals of knowledge. We found them to be larger and more fierce than ever. "You can tell a Junior, but you can't tell him much," seemed to have been our motto. However, we had plenty of experience with a bird called Biology. Spring Hill sent us a most valuable and spirited huntsman, Avis Cline. We sure needed her help, and we got it. All of us will remember one member of our faculty, Mr. R. H. Timberlake, who came from Norfolk to help us in our conquest of Nature.

We began our work as Seniors happier than ever before. The heat of summer, the remembrances of the last classes, and other reasons, caused our band to dwindle down to twelve. This being our last hunt together, we decided to elect a new group of leaders for our coming expedition. Russell McAllister was chosen for President, and Kenneth Cleveland his chief adviser. The remainder of the band gave all the suggestions they possibly could. Another good friend, and the father of our class, who decided to hunt with us, in place of going on, was Paul Cleveland.

Our expedition would not have been complete without the jolly and friendly Mary Hawkins, who helped us so much. We were very accommodating, so we sent Cletis Garber to New Hope. Our worst and greatest enemies now are Civics and Chemistry. However, we feel sure of overcoming them.

So now we are looking forward to the commencement with great anxiety, and we hope to make everything a success.

To our teachers, who have taught us from the Freshman through the Senior years, we owe gratitude and praise, especially to our Principal, Mr. E. E. Cox, who has taught us faithfully and served as our faculty adviser, directing us in every way with sympathy, foresight, and zeal.

Our High School life, as a whole, has been a pleasant one, and as the class divides at the close of school, each taking up his future work, may success follow each one.

—RUSSELL WILBERGER.

Prophecy

FIRST, I turned to Station WIBG, St. Paul's Church, Elkins Park, Pa.

A man had just finished speaking, and it was announced that his wife would continue the program. Whom did I find these two people to be but my classmate, Virginia Bailey, and her husband. I found they had been sent away as foreign missionaries by the Church of the Holy Rollers and had returned to the United States for only a few weeks to raise money for further extension of their work.

Second, I turned to station KMOX, Voice of St. Louis, St. Louis, Mo.

I tuned in amidst a speech of a real woman speaker, who had run for the U. S. Senate but had been defeated. This was my friend and classmate, Kathryn Weaver. Tonight she was speaking in behalf of the Society for the Protection of Homeless Cats.

Third, I turned to station WRVA, Richmond, Va.

The winners of a recent sewing contest were being announced. Mary Hawkins, a member of the class of '30, being one of them, was called on to make a speech before the club. In listening to this speech I found that Mary's giggles had gone with the years, and that she had changed in many respects. I have only one charge to bring against her. That is, she still insists on serving "Wine." I fear if she continues this much longer she will become seriously intoxicated and lose her good name, Hawkins.

Fourth, I turned to station WGL, International Broadcasting Corporation, New York, N. Y.

I tuned in just in time to hear the farewells of a large audience to a great singer who had been singing for station WGL for quite a while, and was giving her farewell broadcast program. Who was this great singer? None other than my old classmate, Avis Cline. Finding city life a bore, she had decided to give up radio broadcasting and to continue her life work in the Sahara Desert as a keeper of a watering station for camels.

Fifth, I turned to station WHAP, Defenders of Truth Society, Inc., New York, N. Y.

There, in a great cathedral, I heard a minister addressing a great congregation. The words of wisdom and truth that I could hear so well sounded strangely familiar, and I racked my brain trying to think where I had heard the voice. Suddenly it came to me! This great minister who swayed thousands was Tracy Wine, the bashful boy of the class of '30.

Sixth, I turned to station WABC, New York.

The results of the last game of the World Series were just being given. I listened, and heard, to my great surprise, that an old classmate of '30 had pitched the team to victory over the Chicago Cubs. To add to his victories, he knocked a home run in the last inning. Have you already guessed? It was Hugh Sutton.

Seventh, I turned to station WBC, Washington, D. C.

I found that Russell McAllister, the business man of the senior class of '30, had continued his hard work throughout these nineteen years, as he did in the class of '30. Now I find him in his tenth year of soap-box speeches made in defense of the Republican party.

Eighth, I turned to station WBAK, Pennsylvania State Police Station, Harrisburg, Pa.

I tuned in amidst a great uproar. Two policemen were accusing each other of putting a man in the asylum who wasn't crazy. This seemed rather interesting to me, as I hadn't heard anything like it before. So I decided to wait to hear the final decision. I found that Kenneth Cleveland, one of our class of '30, had been confined in an asylum. He had gone to town, where he was not known, and had been taken up, but afterwards released, when it was found that he was not dangerous, only funny.

Ninth, I turned to station KFMB, Hollywood, California.

I was just in time to get the theatre announcements for the following week. The announcer was describing an actor who had made a great hit with the women because of his handsome face and ready smile, and who was to play the leading part in a picture the following night. I continued to listen, eager to hear his name. I was both surprised and glad to hear the name, Russell Wilberger.

Tenth, I turned to station WCGU, Coney Island, N. Y.

I found that Barnum's Circus was to be held in town the following week, and the main features of the week's performances were being broadcast. I found one of my classmates, Paul Cleveland, had become the most successful trainer of monkeys at this time. He had successfully trained a number of them in the art of throwing eggs and never missing their aim.

Ding-a-ling? Oh! there's the phone. "Hello—this is Janet—yes, Janet Moore. What? The National Broadcasting Company at New York wants me to accompany Rudy Valee on the piano tomorrow night? Well, you bet—I'll be there all right. Toodle do."

Thus the evening ended.

—JANET MOORE.

ATHLETICS

Girls' Basketball

HIS year Mt. Sidney High School was represented by one of the best teams we ever put on the court. The season's opening was very satisfactory for the coach. The old players showed much improvement over their former years of playing, and also the substitutes of the former years showed great improvement and looked as though they would fill the vacancies of the last year's graduates. With plenty of good coaching and practice, the team came out to be one of the best teams put out by the school in many years.

The season's opening showed that we would be represented by and would have a fighting team who hoped to conquer the championship. We started off with victory after victory, but were unfortunate to lose one of our forwards—a senior girl. While getting a new forward into shape we were not as successful as before, but soon we were back and again proving our strength.

Cline, who had won her letter for three successive years, was our outstanding player. We have no fear in saying that she is one of the best guards, or the best guard, ever to play in the Augusta County High School. The coach was fortunate to have such a player, and therefore he based the team upon this player.

Click, our forward, who was always up and going, proved without doubt to be our best forward. Having two more years to play on the teams, she helped to put the team in front.

Moore, our outstanding side center, has won much credit for what the team has been in the last few years. She was always fighting with that never give up spirit which helped to gain for the team the name of hard fighters.

Hawkins, the best center we have had for several years, being a newcomer to the school and to the team, won the good opinion of all who have seen her play, as the best center, and she also puts much life into the team.

Link, a substitute guard of last year, showed much improvement over her former years of playing. She was always able to break up the opponent's shot, and was found wide awake with plenty of life. She has several more years to play, and we are sure she will be a great help to the team.

Huffman, a fairly good shot, proved to be a fairly good forward. She was quite small, but we are sure that our opponents will agree she was plenty hard to keep up with. Another one of the players who will help to put the school on top in the coming years.

Cline, Hawkins, and Moore without doubt were the most outstanding players. We are sorry to see them leave because of graduation, but wish them the most of success in the future.

Boys' Basketball

OUNT SIDNEY HIGH SCHOOL commenced their basketball season with three regulars—Austin, Wilberger, and Sutton. The coach had a little trouble in filling the vacancies for the future team.

Mr. Cox, the coach, began to realize from the beginning that speed would be the only way in which he could prepare a winning team. Although the boys were small, we depended upon their speed, in order to overthrow their opponents.

The opening games looked very unfavorable, but the team kept up the "Old School Spirit," and were from then on right there in all the games they played.

Wilberger, center, played fine ball throughout the year. He was always on the alert.

Austin, who was with us the year before and considered one of the best stationary guards in the county, was back as usual, holding his place.

Sutton, one of the forwards, was not with us in every game, and when he was not, our team was found to be weakened. He accounted for most of our points.

Craun, this being his first year and having very little experience, also played good ball and helped win what games we won.

Another guard who surprised all of us, was Wine. We had no player who could get off the floor as he did.

Besides the regulars, Depoy, Garber, E., and Garber, V., who substituted, played good basketball in all the games, and each showed good prospects of making next year's team.

Mt. Sidney loses only three of their players through graduation.

Girls' Baseball

This year Mt. Sidney High School was represented by one of the best girl teams in the county. So far this season we have won most of the games played. We have a record for girls baseball, winning every game played for four successive years, except the game against New Hope several years ago, and a game again this year which was our second lost this season.

The team is featured by its good pitcher, Moore, who for several years has been the outstanding player and also a hard hitter. The team will regret the loss of this great player, who has won much honor.

Cliek, the catcher, who has to be good to catch Moore, because of her fast speed ball, is another heavy hitter and also a very nice player who deserves much credit for the team this year. We are sure she will keep up her good work in the next two years to play.

Cline, playing first this year and hitting the old ball hard, has added very much to the team, and always keeping up the old team spirit. The team is also sorry to lose her by graduation, and wish her a good future.

Huffman, very small, but all agree that she could cover the hot corner and swing the willow stick to hit the ball rather hard. We hope in the coming years she will make the team a valuable player.

Hulvey, a newcomer, has proven to be a ball player, and that she will in the future help to keep up the good record established by her team-mates.

Hawkins, Link, and Weaver, the outfielders, have all played excellent ball, and in the batting list they were always among the best.

Wine and Stogdale, the substitutes, are left in the future a great work and record to keep up.

The team loses most of its best players by graduation. Cline, Moore, Hawkins, and Weaver are all who played regular the whole season and who will be greatly missed in the future.

Boys' Baseball

This year Mt. Sidney High School was represented by one of the best teams we ever put in the field. So far this season, we have won fifteen straight games, thereby taking the championship of the district for the fourth time in succession. We won also the county championships this year, from Craigsville, 12-4 and 10-6. We lost the deciding game to them last year by a score of 1-0. Sutton pitched the most wonderful game of his career, striking out seventeen batters and allowing three hits. We got five hits. Last year's team was a green one that was whipped into shape by Mr. Cox, but this year they are a very much improved organization.

Our team was strong on the defensive, mostly because of the stellar pitching of Sutton, Depoy, and Furr, who held the opposing teams to a 2-2 run average, while on the defense we were unusually strong, averaging 14.5 runs to the game and collecting fifteen home runs, thirteen triples, and twenty-six doubles.

Sutton, while not pitching, played shortstop. He was the mainstay of the team.

Depoy pitched good ball and developed into a finished first baseman. Furr served well as a utility man when not pitching.

McAllister again proved to be the best high school catcher in the county. Leach begins to show the points of a coming receiver. Austin was there at second and did well as sacrifice man. Eagle, at shortstop, showed improvement, especially in batting. Ryan will develop into a good ball player. Wilberger, Cleveland, and Wine make up the best high school outfield in the Valley. In hitting and fielding, they are good.

Hulvey, Craun, and Driver served as substitutes.

The team will feel the loss of Sutton, Wilberger, Cleveland, and Wine through graduation, holes which will be hard for Mr. Cox to fill, but we are looking toward our fifth championship.

This year Mt. Sidney High School was represented by one of the best track teams ever put out by the school. We had entered track several years without practice, but were not successful. A track team means practice, and lots of it. While we were not able to practice for the track meet because of no field, we were represented, nevertheless.

Cleveland, who won the 220-yard dash at the district meet, had little practice, but nevertheless he sure did show a great deal of speed. After winning the district meet, he went to Bridgewater on place third. This we were very well satisfied with, for we knew he did his best.

Garber, V., another boy who won out in the district high jump, had little practice, and he really showed what practice he had when winning second place.

HUMOR

"Funny Bone Ticklers"

Harold Furr: "When I get to heaven I'm going to ask Shakspeare if he wrote all those plays."

Joc Driver: "Maybe he won't be there."

Harold: "Then you ask him."

Rudolph Leach: "What steps would you take if you saw a dangerous lion on the school ground?"

Everette McAllister: "Long ones."

Candidate (making campaign speech): "I am a practical farmer, and in sympathy with farmers. I can plow, reap, milk cows, shoe a horse—in fact, I doubt whether any of my hearers can name one thing about a farm I cannot do."

Voice from Back: "Can you lay an egg?"

Virginia Bailey: "The absence of light is darkness."

Kathryn Weaver: "No, the absence of light is romance."

Mr. Cox: "Janet, what caused the division of the parties in 1912."

Janet: "Don't know. I wasn't old enough to remember."

Father (to son departing for college): "Now, don't let me hear any bad reports about you."

Kenneth: "I'll try hard, Dad; but you know how those things leak out."

Ruby McAllister: "Why do you suppose Adam was made before Eve?"

Wilson Depoy: "Oh, I suppose it was to give him a chance to say a little something first."

Miss Jones: "Use 'cauterize' in a sentence."

Johnny: "I knew she was mine the minute I caught her eyes."

She (in telegram): "In four months I have reduced my weight by half. How long shall I stay?"

He (wiring back): "Another four months."

Russell McAllister: "I'm doing my best to get ahead."

Harold Furr: "You certainly need one."

Motorist: "How far is it to Staunton?"

Edward Furr: "Oh, I don't know; it seems further'n it 'tis, but it tain't."

Lillian Flesher: "I went to see the doctor today. He merely looked at my tongue and prescribed a tonic."

Hugh Sutton: "For heaven's sake, not for your tongue?"

Paul Cleveland (rushing to the Clerk's desk): "Give me a license, quick!"

Clerk: "Marriage or hunting license?"

Paul: "Marriage. I've hunted long enough now; I am going to get married."

Hugh: "I asked Avis if I could see her home."

Kathryn: "And what did she say?"

Hugh: "She said she would send me a picture of it."

Mr. Cox: "What is the formula for water?"

Merlin Hulvey: "H-I-J-K-L-M-N-O."

Mr. Cox: "Why all that?"

Merlin: "Well, you said it was H₂O."

Virginia Bailey: "Late hours are not good for one."

Kenneth Cleveland: "But they are fine for two."

Modern girls are fond of nice clothes, but they are not entirely wrapped up in them.

The School Annual

WE DO not think—not publicly, at least—that we are the only people who print school annuals properly. Many printers do as good work as we, and a few do better, perhaps. But those that do better, charge a great deal more. We believe we are the second largest printers of annuals in Virginia. We know that year after year we print the same books, which indicates that our customers like our work. Furthermore we usually do any new annual that is put out in our territory, which indicates that our work is appreciated where we are best known. We always strive to carry out intelligently and in good taste the theme a staff selects. “Intelligence,” “good taste,” what wonderful words are these when applied to an annual. They mean that the printer is to enter into the spirit of the work and transfer to the printed page the vision of beauty pictured in the mind of the editor. They mean that he is to guard the staff against the visionary, the gaudy, and the needlessly expensive, by constructive and conscientious advice.
